

Android:

Share your physical activity data from your wearable or step counting app on your phone

You need to set permissions between your particular activity app and Health Connect on your phone for the data to flow. Here are some examples.

Setting data access permissions in Health Connect

Click on your particular activity app and choose the data fields you wish to share

